Cemetery Board Not Leagued With Satan

Judge McKenzie, Secretary of Port Ewen Cemetery Association, Delivers Piping Hot Reply to Administration Critics at Annual Meeting—Report Is Adopted Without Comment—Elect Two Directors.

The under current of discord did not rise to the surface as expected at the annual meeting of the Port Ewen Cemetery Association, Inc., of Port Ewen, held Saturday afternoon in the high hall in that village, and the meeting was a most harmonious one. The high note of the afternoon was struck by Judge Henry McKenzie, secretary of the cemetery association, in his annual report which was addressed in no uncertain terms to the critics of the cemetery administration. None of the critics, however, were present at the meeting, and the report was unanimously adopted without comment.

Montague Cole of Ulster Park and Elvin Hutchings of Port Ewen were elected directors in the place of Clarence Cole of Ulster Park and John G. Freer of St. Remy, whose terms of office had expired.

The annual meeting was attended by about thirty of the lot owners with William A. Van Derveer, president of the board of directors, presiding.

Judge McKenzie in presenting his annual report said he wanted it distinctly understood that the report did not refer in any way to those present at the meeting. "The report is addressed to," said the judge, "are not here, although they are expected." He then proceeded to deliver his report addressed to the directors and lot owners of the Riverview Cemetery. The report in full follows:

The Secretary's Report.
I have indicated that there is in existence a corporation formed for the purpose for which it was organized and in pursuance of the certificate issued by the secretary of state.

Yet when listening to the demagogic arguments of certain lot owners there seems to be a doubt as to whether the directors have been vested with legal authority or essential capacity to exercise an act of control over the franchise granted by the state of New York. It is with extreme regret that I am constrained to refer to discordant matters as they now exist.

For many years there has been a constant demand by people owning lots in this cemetery to take some action toward incorporation, thereby enabling those who by force of circumstances had no descendants to properly care for their lots when they had departed from this terrestrial sphere, the pressure of these people accompanied by so many convincing arguments prepared the way for action and on March 10, 1926, the customary papers setting forth the procedure in such cases made and provided by law were filed with the secretary of state, and a duplicate was filed in the office of the clerk of Ulster county.

The certificate issued by the secretary of state on the 10th day of March, 1926, is now in my possession as secretary of this corporation.

The legal requirements having been completed the next matter was to call the attention of the directors elected by the public to the fact that the incorporation of 1925 was the matter of providing laws, rules, and regulations in pursuance of the statute, and the authority of the state department.

This was a difficult matter to accomplish, owing to the anticipated diversity of opinion. After many meetings of the board of directors the unpleasant matter was made conformable to what was considered the best interests of the lot owners.

In all organizations where the membership is composed of people of reasonable intelligence, those in authority are apt to encounter opposition based upon theories which the opponents may consider supremely wise.

In some instances opposition is the result of trade, but as this corporation should not be affected with opposition except from those who are by physical disqualification prospective candidates for that honor from which to transfer over returns.

Translators and Interpreters.
Some people could not be happy or contented if they were not contented in occupations translations and in business; some people are so constituted that they consider that their faculties for deciding correctly is not susceptible to uncertainties or liability to error and become so inflated with the notion that they advocate economic action, self control, and self preservation.

Supervisors to Canvass Vote

The members of the board of supervisors will organize as a board of canvassers on Tuesday at noon and proceed to canvass the vote cast at the general election of November 2. A chairman will be chosen who will appoint committees to receive returns, canvass and tabulate same. The 1926 annual session of the board of supervisors will begin Tuesday evening. After the meeting the Ulster County Supervisors' Association will meet in the court room and elect a president and a treasurer, the clerk of the board of supervisors being the secretary as the by-laws provide.

He Danced at Army Service

Thomas Dougherty was arrested Sunday evening by Officer Hess on a charge of interfering with the open air service on Wall street of the Salvation Army. Thomas danced on the sidewalk while the service was in progress and then started to pass the hat, when his activities were suddenly stopped by the officer. This morning in police court Judge Shufeldt discharged Thomas with a suspended sentence.

Cornell House to Meet.
There will be a special meeting of Cornell House, No. 2, this evening at 8 o'clock in its rooms to make arrangements to attend the funeral of their departed brother, Mayor Morris Block.

Supersede the legal charter issued by the secretary of state by false representation and innuendoes that the incorporation of this cemetery was perpetrated with a view to mislead the lot owners and impress upon them the necessity to obstruct the natural course of events; many of these unwise and shallow utterances have been brought to my attention by some of the devoted adherents who had been approached, and implored to sign a certain document. I have this to say in regard to the repeated attempts to thwart the progress, slow as it might be.

Not Leagued With Satan.
Your board of directors have been accused of being in league with the Satanical Majesty whereby his influence could be exerted to bring to earth some of the aridity found in the lower regions, which was consummated during the year, causing a drought disastrous in its effect.

If the cemetery could be satisfactorily systematized without expense to the disgruntled owners, there would be no occasion or desire to express opposition.

Fifty Anonymous Letters.
Members of this directorate have been annoyed by anonymous letters, filthy and disgusting in their character; the authors of these letters have exhibited illiteracy, vulgarity, and have the earmarks of calumny and defamation of character; some of them have applied to the press to publish those fancied sentiments, owing to the dictatorial demands of the author they were politely declined, notwithstanding the effrontery of the author.

The incorporation in its management may have performed in a manner not acceptable to some lot owners, the condition of the cemetery may have not had the appearance of a Paradise, many things have been encountered, sometimes discouraging but if the lot owners will be patient at the same time lending a helping hand thereby inspiring those in authority it would in a great degree be more profitable for all.

The board of directors at this time desire to express their appreciation of the generous efforts of those lot owners who have exhibited patience, and so thoroughly responded with their assessments and their extreme desire to further the attempt to do something for the incorporation; their expression of confidence is convincing and more than offsets the malicious insinuations of the malcontents.

Noting Them Adjourned.
The reference to the Satanical Majesty in the report, Judge McKenzie said, referred to the fact that during the past summer fifty dollars worth of grass seed had been planted in the cemetery, but the drought had killed the grass. Additional grass seed had been brought and he assured the lot owners that next summer would see a decided improvement in the appearance of the cemetery.

Judge McKenzie, who is also treasurer of the association, then submitted the annual treasurer's report which showed there was a good-sized balance on hand in the treasury. The meeting then adjourned.

Rains Aid Reservoir Esopus Waters Low

The rains of the past few days have swollen the mountain streams somewhat and a considerable amount of water is flowing into the Ashokan reservoir. Streams which have been practically dry all summer are now contributing to the depleted waters of the reservoir while springs and wells in the mountains, which have been low all summer, are gradually becoming normal. Although the Esopus creek has risen considerably in the past few days it is far from its natural height for this season of the year.

Demented Quartet Flee Napanoch

Three of Four Prisoners Who Escaped from Napanoch Sunday Were Serving Terms for Murder—No Clue to Whereabouts.

Middletown, N. Y., Nov. 8 (AP).—Four mentally deficient prisoners, three of them serving terms for murder, were at large today after their sensational escape early Sunday morning from the Napanoch Institution for Defective Delinquents near Ellenville.

Superintendent Walter N. Thayer of the institution, said this morning that police in the Metropolitan area and surrounding counties were without a clue to their whereabouts other than a vague report that the escaped quartet had passed through Port Jervis, en route to New York, in an automobile.

Those who escaped were: Pietro Cornacchio, 33, sentenced from Herkimer county for second degree murder.

Silvo Markoff, 40, sentenced from Erie county for second degree murder.

Christopher Mamano, 42, sentenced from Monroe county for second degree murder.

Frank Rowe, 28, sentenced from Bronx county for first degree robbery.

The quartet of half-witted men escaped under cover of the clutter from an electric bread mixer in the prison kitchen after clambering from a mixing table to the top of a baking oven from which they forced open a skylight. Escape from the grounds was via the main gate, which they also forced. An automobile seen about the institution Saturday night is believed to have carried them away.

Change Corporation Name

Amie name changes under the state corporation law, that of the secretary of state, in that of the Maryland-Campbell Co. Kingston to Charles J. Campbell Co.

Mayor Morris Block, Kingston's first mayor to die in office, died Sunday morning at 1:30 o'clock in a private sanitarium in New York city where on October 19 of this year he had undergone an operation on his throat. Following the operation bronchial pneumonia set in, and although it was first checked, there was a relapse on Saturday from which he failed to rally.

The body was brought to this city Sunday afternoon on the West Shore Railroad train arriving at 5 o'clock and was met by Acting Mayor E. J. Dempsey, Corporation Counsel James Jenkins, City Clerk A. A. Styles, Chief of Police J. Allan Wood, City Engineer John F. Hallinan, City Assessor William B. Martin, City Treasurer William C. DeWitt, Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy, Alderman Ray Haines, former City Judge Harry E. Schirck and others and removed to the late home on Spring street by Block & Cords.

Tuesday evening from 5 o'clock until 9 o'clock the body of Mayor Block will lie in state in the city hall where the public will be given the opportunity to pay a last tribute of respect. Funeral services will be held Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Temple Emanuel on Abel street with interment in the family plot in Wiltwyck Cemetery.

Mayor Block is survived by his wife, who was Miss Selma Schwab, of Pittsburgh; one son, Joseph Block; his father, Joseph Block, and two sisters, Mrs. David Weil and Mrs. Harry S. Jacobs, all of this city.

Mayor Block was sixty-four years old on Saturday, and had been a resident of this city all his life. In his younger days he resided in Poughkeepsie, later removing to Wurts street, where he made his home until his new residence on Spring street was completed and where he had since resided.

While still a young man he became actively interested in public affairs and was elected to the board of supervisors. Later he was elected alderman from his ward.

In 1901 he received the Democratic nomination for mayor of Kingston and was elected, serving during 1902 and 1903, when he again was renominated and re-elected, serving in 1904 and 1905.

During the Canfield administration he was appointed city assessor by Mayor Canfield, and served the city in such capacity several years. Mayor Block had also served as city treasurer during the administration of the late Mayor William D. Brincker.

Again in 1923 he was selected as the Democratic candidate for mayor and was elected, serving during 1924 and 1925, when he was again nominated and elected to serve for the term expiring December 31, 1927.

There were few men in Kingston who were more widely and favorably known than Mayor Block and when news of his death reached Kingston Sunday morning the entire city was plunged in grief and flags were displayed at half mast from public buildings and from residences.

The city hall was draped in mourning as well as other public buildings in the city. The death was announced over the radio by the Rev. Dr. Seely from the Fair Street Reformed Church, with fitting comments and expression of sympathy.

During the many years that he had been active in the political and industrial life of the city Mayor Block was always found in the forefront in all activities that tended toward the betterment of city affairs.

As mayor of the city he was brought into close contact with all ranks of life and was always found willing to extend a helping hand where needed. He was president and founder of the Kingston Press Manufacturing Company, located in the building at the corner of Hudson street and 30th street. For a number of years the business was carried on in a building on Ferry street, but as the business increased he removed the successful administration of Mayor Block it was necessary to find larger quarters and several years ago the business was removed to its present location.

Mayor Block for many years had been an active member of the Temple Emanuel, where funeral services will be held Wednesday afternoon. This evening all of the city boards will hold special meetings to adopt resolutions of respect in memory of Mayor Block.

During the time that Mayor Block had been confined to the sanitarium in New York city, E. J. Dempsey, as president of the common council, had been acting mayor of the city, and under the provisions of the city charter he will now serve the city as mayor for the unexpired term of Mayor Block.

The card party which was to have been held this evening by the Ladies' Auxiliary of St. John's Church has been postponed due to the death of Mayor Morris Block. The date of the party will be announced later.

'PEACHES' SUITOR, 'DADDIE' ASSERTS

Browning Declares Girl Proposed Runaway Marriage—Sorry for Her.

New York.—There is a rift in the romance, or whatever it was, of "Peaches" Heenan and "Daddie" Browning. "Peaches" packed up and departed with her mother. For several days Browning could not be prevailed upon to give his side of the story, but now declares that he knows of no reason for the break in their marital relations. Speaking of their marriage he now says that "Peaches" was the one who proposed. She suggested the runaway marriage and he felt so sorry for her he complied.

"Peaches" has sent word through her mother that she will "never be back," and is believed to be preparing for some part of a movie career. Browning says he still loves her.

"I love her and don't love anybody else. I never spoke to any other girl during or after our courtship. And I'd be glad to have her personally back—with emphasis on the 'personally,'" the real estate man remarked.

Before him were three photographs of Dorothy Sunshine, his first adopted daughter. Dorothy, now ten, was adopted soon after his first marriage. She never has been punished, never "spanked," and she adores him, he said. Above the picture of Dorothy were two larger ones of "Peaches."

Cost Cost $4,500.

Browning recalled the day of his wife's disappearance, and some other dates. He remembered a bill for $5,500 for clothing "Peaches" bought. He flourished the receipted bill. A cable cost, marked down from $11,000 to $4,500, because Browning had been "such a good customer," was the chief item. He showed a paid bill for $167 from the same shop, also paid by him. The big bill included dresses, coats and hats, the first of which "Peaches" bought, Browning said.

Browning also recalled the number of doctors and dentists (there were 15 of the former), to whom he insisted he sent "Peaches," mostly to be treated for the mysterious acid burns she suffered before her marriage. These doctors were expensive, some in the $25 a visit class, he explained.

One thing Browning didn't remember—the date of his marriage.

Browning denied he ever had considered adopting "Peaches." She told him she was twenty-three when he met her, he said. Then she said she was twenty-one, and later he discovered she was only fifteen.

"Let's run off and get married," he insisted she said one day.

Browning said he explained that was "impossible." He wanted to place her in one of three well known schools for girls, he explained, but "Mrs. Heenan was unable to arrange it."

Then came the acid-throwing incident and Mr. Browning felt so sorry for the girl he accepted, he said. The marriage at Cold Spring by the village taxi driver-justice was a day or two after.

Browning denied knowing anything about the acid-throwing. He told of calling several doctors. He rushed out without a coat or hat and got boric acid, sweet oil and cotton gauze from a drug store. Then he ran up the five flights of stairs and called a doctor, who covered her face with paraffin, he said.

"She weighed 165 pounds in her fur coat, as against 135 pounds when I met her," he said.

Browning denied he ever "chucked any girl under the chin." "But," he said, "there'll be no more adoptions and no more weddings. I'm through with both."

Use Plane Propeller to Chase Movie Bugs

Hollywood, Calif.—Insects, hovering in the lights, used to be one of the grave problems of indoor photography of the screen. Now it vanishes with a turn of a switch.

It is the "bug machine." Whenever scenes are taken in which the big electric lights at the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studio are used, the "bug machine" is wheeled up. It is an airplane propeller, driven by an electric motor.

The lights attract thousands of moths, mosquitoes and other insects which, if left to themselves, would flutter in the beams of light and pass to and fro before the camera. In short focus they would look like flying dragons or airplanes. But the great fan solves this. Its current of rushing air, invisible in the film, flies past the lights and keeps the unbidden insects from camera range.

German Soldier Gives Up Silver He Stole in France

Han, France.—A troubled conscience has forced a German soldier to make restitution after 12 years for a wrong committed during the war. From Altona, Prussia, the mayor of Han has received a huge bundle containing silverware which the soldier declared he stole from a house in Han when the town was pillaged by the Germans in 1914. He expressed regret for his act and said he hoped the mayor would restore the property to the owner.

The mayor, however, is having a hard time of it. For the conscience-stricken German could not recall the exact location of the house he robbed.

TURKISTAN BANS POLYGAMY AND SALE OF INFANT GIRLS

Reforms Brought About as Result of Murder of Woman Who Fought Against Evil.

Poltoratsk (Formerly Ashkhabad), Turkistan.—As a sequel to the murder of the young Communist worker, Anna Dechkan, for which five of her relatives were executed, the Turkistan government issued a decree prohibiting polygamy, the exploitation of women and the sale of infant girls in marriage.

These were the things against which Anna fought, and which aroused her relatives to warn her and finally to desert in a body and stab her to death in the presence of her husband and infant child. Fifty-two wounds were inflicted on her body.

Under this decree the marriageable age for girls is fixed at sixteen and for boys eighteen. The professional marriage brokers who thrived on the sale of women are suppressed. It will no longer be necessary for a man to pay a price for a wife, and those forced to do so may later recover in court.

It was revealed at the Dechkan trial that young girls were often sold into marriage without their consent, frequently becoming the third or fourth wife of an old man they had never seen before.

Also that parents who sold their immature daughters into marriage encouraged divorce, so the girls could be sold a second time. Some girls were resold as many as five times.

The trial further brought out that under the peculiar conceptions of honor prevailing among Turcomans, it was considered a disgrace and an insult to the husband if a divorce were secured on the wife's initiative.

Such "insults" were avenged by the husband killing the wife or her newly acquired spouse, and these affairs frequently led to blood feuds among whole families and even entire villages.

All five of the murderers went to their death unrepentant for the crime, which was one of the strangest and most sensational in Russian annals. They insisted that Anna had dishonored the proud family name and also had dishonored God and their country by renouncing their religion and parental teachings and embracing Communism.

Crosses Ocean Alone at 94 to Visit Family

New York.—After a lifetime passed in the little town of Korno, Lithuania, from which her children long ago migrated to the new world, a little old woman has thought of little else in the nine years since her husband's death but of coming to America to see her son and daughters again. At the age of ninety-four, she arrived on a liner, having made the trip alone.

She is Mrs. Rachel Dworja Gaberowitz.

A nut brown transformation with not a suggestion of a gray hair, diamond earrings, and old-fashioned rings on her small hands added a quaintness to the little old figure which was by no means lacking in dignity.

She had hoped to dance on the way over, but the sea proved a little too much for her. She had not heard about the Charleston.

She was met at the pier by her two daughters, Mrs. Esther Garrellit, Rochester, and Mrs. R. Rosen, Jersey City, to whom she was turned over by the immigration authorities.

Woman at 83 Pieces Quilts to Support 3

Philadelphia.—Wholly unaware that she is doing anything to inspire her adopted city's admiration and wonder, a woman whose years are thirteen more than the allotted three score and ten pieces quilts to support herself and two grandchildren.

Mrs. Anna Henningsen has always been independent of others for her support. Since the death of her husband, 40 years ago, she has made her own living, asking no assistance from the world on the ground that she was a "widow with dependents."

It was in her native Denmark, the land whence came Mille Gade Corson, when she was still a child that she first became self-supporting. At the age of seventeen she migrated to America because she learned there was work for all in the new land.

Dainty Colored Cigarettes Make Hit With Male Paris

Paris.—Cigarettes of dainty color, for years an affection of feminine smokers who shop in Fifth avenue, Bond street and Rue de la Paix, have captivated the male of the species in France.

Not long ago, as an experiment, the state tobacco monopoly began wrapping its higher-priced cigarettes in paper of various hues—coral, amethyst and emerald. They have proven so popular that the monopoly intends to adopt other colors, and even to issue one assorted package under the name of "rainbow."

The ordinary cheaper French cigarette will remain what it has always been—rather a thing of beauty but not a joy.

November Days Are Far From Gray—Buddy Plaid and Furs Tend to Make the Footfall Month Important Sarcotically

The melancholy days about which the poets used to sing have undergone a change. November is a far from gloomy month for the youngsters and their proud parents. The country is football mad at this time, and one's activities and wardrobes are linked definitely with the game.

Stadiums have become fashion centers, and Saturdays from late October until Thanksgiving are important from the sartorial as well as the athletic and social viewpoint. Naturally, it is the sturdy, outdoor type of dress that is of paramount interest. Fur coats of the type in which one bundles oneself for a long motor trip become of far more value than fur coats three times their worth.

Woolen hose are more to be desired than chiffon silken ones, yet, with them one finds smart women wearing rather frivolous footwear. Novelty Oxfords are for the moment the most desirable, the color ranges including all shades of tan, brown.

and black, alone and in combination. Gloves too are of the sturdiest sort, with a leaning toward washable kid and chamamois slippers.

Handkerchiefs and hats may both express one's collegiate preference. There is, however, a general tendency to get back to the chaste white handkerchief, even the type with an embroidered scalloped edge. Color, of course, may be discreetly introduced. The younger set is still partial to bandanas, the square silk scarf seeming to have precedence over other kinds.

Plaids are among the seasonable designs in vogue. One finds all plaid coats furred with some smart belt, and perhaps having, besides a standing collar, patch pockets of fur and a broken border. One must again mention the fur-lined coat and the plaid and plain combination, for they are important at this season.

Chic for Fall Wear in Line of Sport Wraps

For fall wear the garment here shown is one of the latest styles. It is of brown and tan plaid with a tan caracul collar and long flare cape falling to a point at the hem of the coat.

Pajama Suits Inspired by Robes of Chinese

For the tea hour with one's intimate friends or even for dinner at home, Paris likes the pajama suit, inspired by the richly ornamented robes of the Chinese. Molyneux has scorned satin and used a silver lame with a pink backing to make the trousers and straight blouse of one of his pajama suits. These trousers have an amusing strap under the flap to hold the trouser leg taut. The three-quarter-length flaring coat worn with this costume is of pale pink georgette embroidered in silk flowers of every shade.

A more practical pajama suit designed by Dreyfus has a straight coat of silk brocade in which Chinese red is the predominant color. The black satin trousers are gathered into an extremely feminine ruffle about the ankles. A belt and cuffs on the brocade coat, made of the black satin, definitely relate the two pieces of the garment.

Reappearance of Ostrich for Trimming Purposes

Three things stand out with great distinctness in the new fashions launched for the autumn season. One is the continued vogue of sheer fabrics for evening frocks, second is the favor with which all shades of red are regarded, and third is the reappearance of ostrich used for trimming purposes as well as for millinery.

The effort that is being made to awaken hat consciousness is successful so far as milliners themselves are concerned. In the new models there is much more variety, and a more lavish use of decoration. From Paris comes word that ostrich is chosen as trimming for plain felt hats. Coincident with the revival of ostrich for millinery purposes is the introduction of the feather bon. In its new version it is quite different from the type of ostrich bon dearly beloved of English women of a certain age and a certain era.

The KITCHEN CABINET

(By 1024 Western Newspaper Union.)
Between the printed words that are so wise
And march so easily across the page,
Sometimes quite suddenly I catch the look
Of him who wrote, tolling in lowly guise
To keep his pen unsharpened by woe
Or age—
And then I think, "What precious things are books!"
—Hilda Morris.

HOW TO PREPARE MEALS

The planning of meals days before-hand seems a foolish waste of time to a housekeeper. The methodical, systematic housewife, who plans her meals often a week in advance, will find a vast field for individuality, ingenuity and economy in so doing.

The indolent and thrifless woman who spends her time in needless ways, and a few moments before the meal tears around wildly to prepare or see to the preparation of the food will find a limited field, for preparation and thought are both necessary for a well balanced and attractive meal. If economy and variety are to be considered.

Steaks and chops are often the poor man's food, because they are quickly made ready. Such meats are more expensive, less nutritious, and should be served only occasionally.

The corner and cheaper cuts of meat may be prepared in thousands of ways but they take a longer period of cooking and care to serve acceptably.

It should be the pride of every housewife to work toward getting as much as possible out of the time, money and energy spent.

When cooking any food which boils over easily, grease the sides of the kettle. A roll of cheap toilet paper is handy in the kitchen to use to wipe out greasy utensils, thus saving hands, and towels. When grease is spilled a handful of soft paper will quickly take it up. Use it for scouring the sink and polishing the windows.

Hamburg Steak.—Prepare and season well a flat cake of hamburger steak, place on a baking dish and cover with larded strips of fat salt pork. Bake, basting occasionally, using care not to disturb the decorations. Serve with a mushroom sauce. This is a dish not to be refused by the most fastidious.

Charming Sports Coats Are in Striped Effects

A fashion that had its origin at the smart French resorts is rapidly achieving a vogue on this side of the Atlantic. It is only a few weeks since the first cardigan jacket, knitted of the finest wool, made its appearance at Deauville. At present these smart little sports coats in brilliant or pastel striped effects are in evidence where fashionable women assemble. Cross-wise stripes are something of a novelty and in the brief period since their introduction have become unusually popular.

Pink and green is a soft almond tone are put together in various ways this season and form a combination of colors that is considered extremely smart. The shades, however, are always very delicate and in their soft tones remind one of the subtle colors that give such beauty to Italian scarfs and shawls.

Higher Waistlines
The waistline, like the thermometer, is creeping up again. In order to secure this effect some designers are showing models in which the skirt is dovetailed into the bodice. That is, the upper part of the skirt is cut in points which end on the yoke of the bodice.

Ruffles on Sleeves
Double ruffles with a band of ribbon or organdie between, make a charming variation for the new fall sleeves.

We Don't Need Them
Given, in the following form in French, says an "American" from the Paris ladies, "said that 'tornados' were Latin, and it means to turn, while 'typhoon' and cyclone were borrowed from the Greeks." It's about time we returned them to where they came from.—Detroit Free Press.

Mothers trust this fifty-year-old brand—the natural unspoiled whole grain

Only a few cereals come to you with all their original nourishment—others some of the valuable parts are sifted away.

But the careful millers of Mother's Oats realize the value of the natural whole grain. They remove none of the indispensable parts—and for the growth years, especially, this is of great importance.

The tender linn covering of the oat, vitamins, minerals, and a liberal contribution of tissue-building protein—these make a bowl of Mother's Oats with milk one of the most nourishing and healthful of breakfasts.

Give it to your growing children often. They will love its rich whole-grain flavor.

MAHALIA'S KITCHEN

Now little Mahalia was very fond of cooking and she was very clever at cooking, too. She could make most delicious things to eat and the more she tried the better she became.

In fact, she had good luck, so she said. But it was really because she was so clever at doing it.

Her little next-door friend used to make most awful mistakes and then say she had no luck.

She Knew How.

She would put something in the oven and forget all about it, and what could the oven do but go on roasting when it had been all started off to roast?

Now one day as a great treat Mahalia was allowed to get the whole dinner. She even was allowed to plan what they would have to eat.

First of all she decided they would have tomato soup made with tomatoes and milk. Oh, she knew how to keep them separate until just the right time and how to mix them and how the soda kept the milk from curdling.

Then she decided she would have popovers, as her family loved popovers and her popovers always turned out well.

She thought she would be very economical and use some of the steak that had been left over from dinner the day before.

So she put it in the meat chopper and added some potatoes that had also been left over and made a very nice little hash.

"They will want something very cool and crisp to go with hash," Mahalia said to herself.

So she fixed some celery in a dish. To go with the hash she had some spinach, as it was nice and green.

Now that was just about as much as she could possibly manage, so for dessert she had some preserved fruit and some cookies from the cookie jar.

Her mother had made the cookies. But they would all think it was fine that she was preparing so much, and the popovers would be her special dish of the evening.

Mahalia had her kitchen all in such perfect order. Long before the spinach was started being cooked it was in a big bowl on the table soaking in cold water. And the celery had been wrapped up in a wet cloth and had been upon the ice where it could keep so crisp and nice.

Then all her spoons and forks and knives that she would use were put in readiness so she would not have to go hunting for them. She knew that to have things ready kept the food from ever burning.

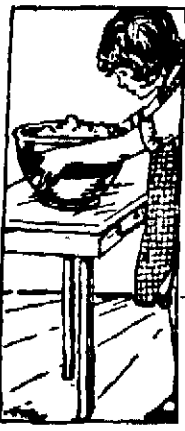

She greased her popovers tins in plenty of time, and she set the table, too.

She did it all so carefully and neatly that it was not nearly the fuss and bother as if she had gone rushing about her kitchen, forgetting this, suddenly remembering that, smelling something burning, having to waste without any reason save because of carelessness.

No, she didn't do it in any careless way, but so neatly and nicely and capably and cleverly.

And quite often, because Mahalia was so good at cooking and fixing things to eat and in looking after household matters that the family spoke of the kitchen as "Mahalia's kitchen."

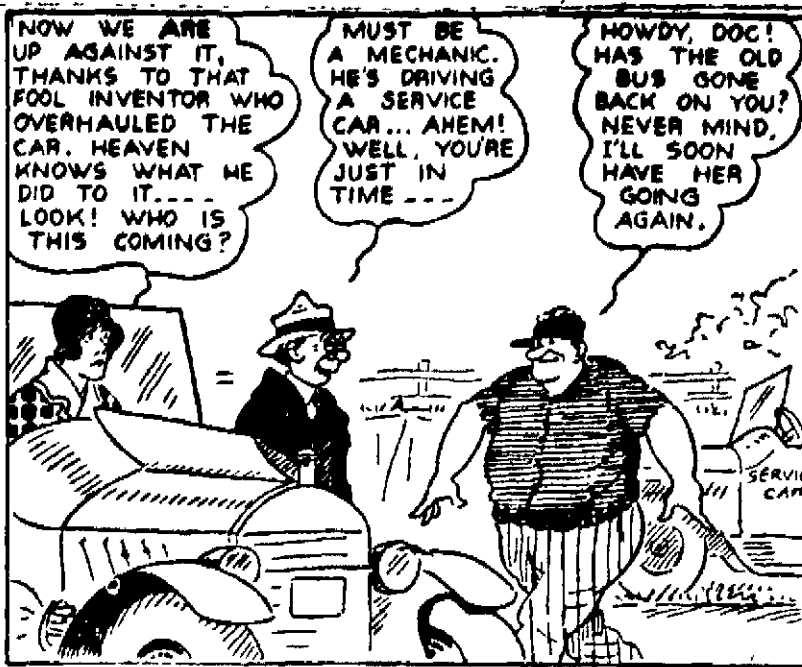

It was a compliment she more than deserved.

BIGELOW'S DEED TO TROOPERS RECORDED

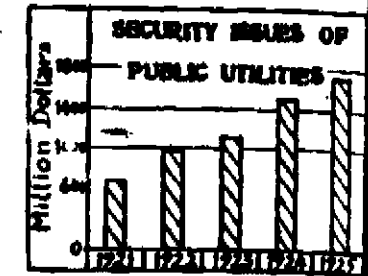

By a deed made October 4, 1924, executed November 1, 1926, and filed Thursday, November 4, with the county clerk of Ulster county, Poultny Bigelow, honorary chaplain of the New York State Troopers, and wife, Lillian Bigelow, convey to the state of New York, department of state police, by Major John A. Warner, superintendent, in consideration of patriotic sentiment and gratitude towards Col. George F. Chandler, M. D., superintendent emeritus, a tract of land in the county of Ulster, township of Saugerties, village of Malden-on-Hudson.

It is bounded on the east by the Hudson river, north by estate of F. L. Steenken, south by ice house and land of D. A. Zoller, and on west by Malden turnpike. Party of first part reserves to himself, his heirs and assigns a strip fifty feet in width along the northern line; also the right of cutting lumber for his personal use according to the methods approved by a prudent forester, to-wit: Preserving always a park-like appearance. And the party of the second part agrees that this piece of land shall be used only as recreation ground for State Troopers, their families and guests, and they agree to permit no business and no buildings other than dwellings for themselves and families; and they agree that in the event of this property becoming useless or undesirable they shall not sell it but that it shall revert back to party of first part, his heirs or assigns.

Public Utility Securities Increase.
Babson Park, Mass., Nov. 3. (Special.)—Professor Ripley of Harvard University has caused considerable comment throughout the country by reason of his own comment regarding the financing of public utility companies in the United States. Of course, his is but one side of the case and we must not forget that there are two sides to every fence. On the other hand, everyone must at least admit that the security issues of public utility companies have been put out very fast of late years. Anything can be overdone—even public utility securities. The point is whether or not the ship is already listing to a serious extent. Undoubtedly we shall hear more on the subject before long—from other eminent authorities.

Back in 1921, the security issues of public utility companies were barely 670 millions of dollars compared with a figure last year of 1,770 millions of dollars. There has been no let-up.

Mussolini, the lion-hearted—

PEOPLE in Italy began to whisper: "Mussolini's enemies are too strong for him. He will surely be destroyed."

But enemies did not daunt Mussolini. And to show the Italian people that he had courage and to spare, he strolled into the lion's cage at the Zoo in Rome and had himself photographed patting one of the lions on the head.

The advertisement succeeded. All Italy exclaimed: "Let Mussolini's enemies beware. He has the heart of a lion."

Mussolini was able to advertise his courage in this way only because he had courage. That is the basis of all advertising. Anyone who advertises must have goods that will stand inspection.

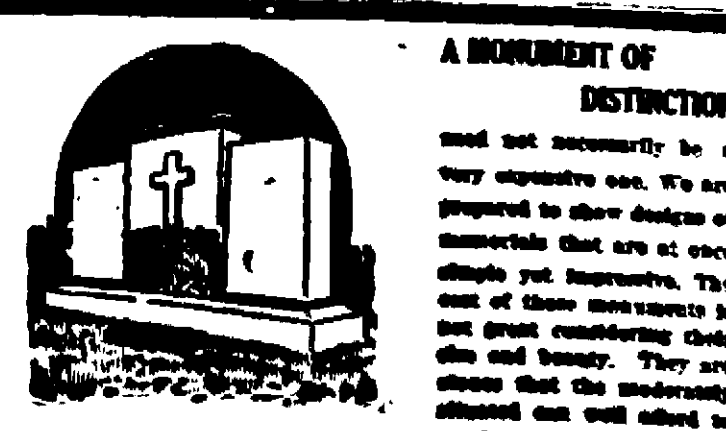

Advertisements speak tested truths. Read them. You can act upon them with accuracy.

Only true qualities can stand the test of publicity.

Sun-Spot Superstition

The weather men of antiquity had little information, but they were good observers. They can scarcely have missed seeing that years when sun spots were visible to the naked eye were also likely to be years of severe storms. Storms being among the greatest of primitive misfortunes, the superstition of sun-spot malevolence was a natural consequence.—New York Herald Tribune.

Attempt to Steal Bride at Party

Bellport, N. Y., Nov. 8 (P).—A party given here in honor of Dr. Silas Rogers Corwith, 66 year old physician, and his 18 year old bride, Marie Viola Alter, ended with the guests being driven out of the doctor's house after an unsuccessful attempt was made to kidnap the bride.

The party went well enough until some of the younger men, growing tired of the older and homelike wine, appeared with a bottle of more potent liquor. The doctor took the bottle away from them, and a few minutes later while dancing with the bride, one of the men picked her up and ran toward an automobile parked near the gate.

and Commercial

New York, Nov. 8 (P).—Responding to a continuance of easy money rates and constructive trade developments, stock prices moved upward today despite renewed efforts to bear traders to unsettle the general list by attacking the motor shares. Buying centered largely in the high grade rails, coppers, equipments and public utilities, the bulk of which in which many stocks were bid up, indicating a scarcity in the floating supply.

C. S. Steel common was well supported on the prospect of a sizable increase in unfilled orders in the October tonnage statement to be given out Wednesday. Baldwin and Pullman, with early gains of 4 and 3 1/2 points respectively, led the early advance in the equipments buying of which was influenced by reports of a substantial increase in locomotive orders last month and the continuance of unusually heavy freight traffic.

Coppers reflected the improvement trade position of the industry, Utah, Kennecott again breaking into new high ground. Vick Chemical touched a new high.

Male's Food Supply

The mole has the storing instinct well developed. It requires an enormous amount of food to keep it going, for every 45 hours it will devour about its own weight of food. Large stores of worms are sometimes found in a mole's run, and these appear to have been deprived of their powers of traveling in some way, although they remain alive. Thus the mole has a supply of food close at hand, which is very serviceable in dry weather when its favorite article of diet is difficult to find.

Player-Piano Rolls

Where it used to take weeks to make the G-note roll for a player-piano it now takes but a very few minutes for a good player to make the modern player-piano roll. On this roll only the theme is played by hand. The orchestra and jazz notes are inserted by a mechanical process. The paper on which these rolls are made is 13 1/2 per cent cheaper of fiber. The perforated paper roll was invented in 1907 and the perforated music sheet appeared as early as 1942, when a Frenchman patented it in France.

Domestic Economy

"What's this?" inquired the young husband, referring to the memorandum his wife had given him.

"The downy nest, a pound of raisins, a bottle of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, a box of ground cinnamon and half a pound of sugar."

"What the merry spring do you want with all these things, Dearest?"

"I've got a male lost," replied the young wife, "which I am going to save by working it up into a brandy pudding. I never let anything go to waste, Dearest, and you know it."

Infant Slightly Burned in Crib

The four months old infant of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Kolts of 215 Hasbrouck avenue was slightly burned on the hands and arms on Sunday evening when its crib was burned. The fire department was called at 7 o'clock and rushed to the scene of the fire.

The baby had been put to bed for the night and the family was on the lower floor of the residence. One of the older children took a lamp and went to the room where the little one was sleeping and returned to inform his parents that the infant was all right. Shortly after the report that everything was satisfactory cries were heard from the baby and an investigation showed that the crib was afire. The child was rescued after it had received considerable burns on the hands and arms. The mattress and bed clothing were burned, before the flames could be extinguished.

In the early evening the firemen were summoned to Walnut street, where they found the house occupied by Edward Hutton on one floor and Annie Tripp on another, afire. The blaze was in the kitchen and before it could be extinguished the room was badly damaged. The fire, it was learned, started from the stove.

Longed-for Taxi Ride

One of the rarest books in the world is the first edition of Edgar Allan Poe's "Tamerlane." When it was printed, he had only a few copies struck off and his name did not appear on the title page. Few copies were printed, because he could not pay his printer. So rare are these books now that, when they come up in the auction rooms, they command from $10,000 upward.

Not long ago a frail little woman well over sixty appeared at the shop of a well-known Boston dealer in rare books with a bundle wrapped up in brown paper.

"I understand this is quite a valuable book," said she, as she unwrapped it before the eyes of the interested dealer. To his amazement a perfect copy of "Tamerlane" was disclosed which she said had been in her attic ever since she could remember. Having heard that it was valuable, she wanted to know what he would give her for it.

"I should rather sell it for you on commission," said he—to which she agreed.

Later, when he sold it for $25,000 and turned the proceeds over to her, she said as she left his place of business: "I am going to have a ride in a taxi now. I have never had one in my life."—The Market for Exchange.

Single Error Fatal in Diamond Cutting

Great skill is required to produce the little flat surface known as the table, but technically known as a facet, of cut diamonds. The work is exacting and entails much strain on the cutter's patience and on his eyes. A strain introduced by the knowledge that one false cut may ruin the stone and structure of a valuable gem. The rough diamond that is to be cut to a jewel is first worked in rubbing it with another diamond until the stone is roughly round. Next it is set in a competition of hand and tin to keep it from slipping during the cutting of the first facet. Mounted, it is placed in a lathe, which works at a speed of 2,500 revolutions a minute. When the facet is large enough and stands out at the proper angle to the axis of the lathe, it is polished till the characteristic radiance is displayed to the best advantage. It is then removed from the setting and the process is repeated for the subsequent facets. The number of facets depends on the size of the stone. Large stones have 56 facets, smaller ones, 42, 36 or 18. Even the smallest diamonds, so small they can hardly be seen, have 15 facets.—London Daily Express.

Lawyer Father of Kings

Charles Sumner, a lawyer in a small town on the island of Corsica, was known as the "Father of Kings." He was the father of Napoleon I; Joseph, king of Naples; Louis, king of Holland; and Jerome, king of Westphalia.

Cost and Value of Corn Silage

Conclusively Proven That Product in Ration Makes Big Saving.

Stockholders must know the cost of their feeds in order to determine the best and most economical ration. For this reason it is necessary to investigate the cost of making silage, writes A. L. Haack in the Iowa Homestead. The Missouri Agricultural College last year showed a cost of $5.50 per ton for corn silage. They based this on the bushel yield, crediting the corn with 94 cents per bushel and charging actual costs which were liberal on all items and above the average now paid.

During the past 25 years any of our experiment stations have published figures on cost of producing silage, but as conditions have radically changed in costs, these figures are of little value at the present time. It is hoped that new figures on this subject may be secured this year and that special care will be taken to give data produced on average farms.

'ays of Figuring.

There are two principal ways of figuring cost. One is based on the yield of corn, which is the most common, and I believe, the least reliable; the other is based on land rental and actual cost of growing and harvesting the crop. Thirty per cent of last year's corn that went into the silo would not have made marketable grain, due to the fact that it lacked maturity. Frequently a field of corn at tasseling time is so damaged by hot winds that the silk is dried or burned and the corn will fall to ear. Such a crop will still make silage, though it is a total failure as a grain crop. Where the basis is made on land rental and all costs, a more accurate accounting can be made.

Under present-day conditions it is safe to conclude that silage can be made, where all costs are considered, for from $5 to $8 per ton. The following figures may be used to determine the worth of silage under good farm conditions: When butter fat is selling for 45 cents per pound, corn silage will bring the dairy farmer $10 per ton; and when fat steers are selling for $8 to $10 per hundred-weight, corn silage is worth from $7 to $8 per ton. Then a farmer with a silo and a fair yield of crop can receive a value from his corn made into silage of $70 to $80 an acre, when fed to steers, and $100 when fed to good dairy cows.

Makes Big Saving.

It has been conclusively proven that silage in the ration makes a saving of considerable money. With dairy animals, the feeding of silage saves from 8 to 15 cents on the cost of producing a pound of butter and from 30 to 50 cents on producing 100 pounds of milk. For beef production or fattening of animals, the saving produced by silage is about $1 per 100 pounds gain. When we consider the growing of young stock, the feeding of dry cows and heifers, the wintering of work horses and mules, the silage becomes a necessity on the stock farm.

Doris Canyon

This is the latest portrait of lovely Doris Canyon, the "movie" star, showing her as she appears in her popular screen vehicle, "Ladies at Play."

As Told by
Irvin S. Cobb

OF A CARELESS NATURE

A COLORED man owned a mule which, for reasons best known to himself, he desired to sell. Possibly her defective eyesight had something to do with his desire to dispose of her. He heard that a neighbor down the road was in the market for a mule. So he put a halter on the animal and led her to the cabin of the other negro.

At once negotiations were entered in. The owner had delivered himself of a eulogy touching on the strength, capacity for hard work, and amiable disposition of his beast, when the prospective purchaser broke in with a question:

"Is dis yere mule fast?"

"Fast?" the proprietor snorted. "Look yere!" He gave the mule a kick in the ribs, whereupon she bucked sideways, tore down a strip of fencing, galloped headlong through a week's washing, butting against the side of the barn, and then coming off, tore across a garden patch and vanished into the woods beyond the clearing.

"Look yere, nigger," said the owner of the damaged property, "dat mule must be blind."

"She ain't blind," said the owner; "but she jest natchally don't keer a dam!"

FOR THE GOOSE—

FUNKY, ain't it, that you should have the nicest children in the world, and the people next door, the worst?

When kids are little you think how much comfort they'll be when they grow up. And when they're big you think how much fun they were when they were little.

It don't pay to go 'round with bad company. A bunk of charcoal if it's hot'll burn, and if it's cold'll black your hand.

FOR THE GANDER—

A man is never too old to learn, to fall in love, or to expect to live another year.

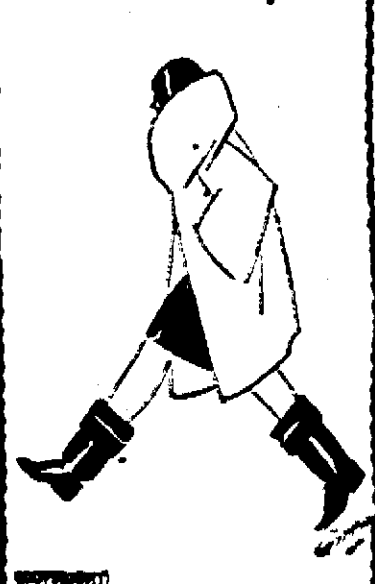

When you're bringin' up children it ain't always easy to be right; and it ain't always right to be easy.

Stones that you throw at people higher up have a way of fallin' back and hittin' you.

Self-deception seems to be the first law of human nature.

NEW PALM.

New Palm, Nov. 5.—On Thursday evening, November 4, a number of the members of the Seekers' Class of the Methodist Church and friends gave a surprise party in honor of the eightieth birthday of their oldest class member, Mrs. B. F. Gerow, at her home on Church and North Front streets. The evening was spent in playing games and refreshments of ice cream and cake were served by the class entertainment committee with the assistance of Miss Mary Gerow. During the lunch hour Miss Dora Allen the class teacher entered the room with a beautiful decorated birthday cake bearing three lighted candles in honor of the three class members whose birthdays occur in the month of November. They were Mrs. B. F. Gerow, Mrs. Alonzo Simpson and Miss Margaret Newton, who in turn blew out their candle. Those present were: The Rev. and Mrs. J. R. Hainshaw, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Vandemark, Miss Dora Allen, Mr. and Mrs. Abel Quick, Mrs. Philip Ayres, Mrs. C. S. Markle, Mrs. Belle Enderly, Mrs. Fred Mack, and daughter, Faith, Mrs. Ralph Gardner, Mrs. E. W. Conklin, Mrs. Thomas Krom, Mrs. Alonzo Simpson and daughter, Gertrude, Mrs. Frank Gulnac and daughter, Blanche, Mrs. Webb Kuffen and daughter, Elaine, Miss Margaret Newton, Mrs. Ester Yost and daughter, Mary, Mrs. Lillian Adie, Carolyn Yeaple, Mrs. Radley, Mr. and Mrs. Irving Bullis, Mrs. D. Silkworth, Mrs. Ida Litts, Mrs. B. F. Gerow, Miss Mary Gerow, George and Alfred Gerow. After enjoying a delightful evening the guests departed at a late hour, each in turn wishing Mrs. Gerow many more happy birthdays.

The Dutch Arms will hold their meeting Tuesday evening, November 9, in the Reformed Church Parlor.

The Grangers held their Hal-lowe'en party on October 20. Mrs. Harry Huling was chairman of the program committee.

Miss Maggie Hasbrouck gave a farewell party recently in honor of Miss Mac Pherson, who has been her guest for the past month.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie McCormick and family were guests on Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. Henry McCormick at Plutarch.

Mrs. Paul Smith and Miss Jane McHugh were in Poughkeepsie on Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Willard Jenkins and daughter, and Mrs. Louis DuBois spent Friday in Newburgh.

Kantish Hop Crop

Not all the hope grown in the fields of Kent go to the British brewers, for it is said that the dyers take most of the hops grown in all England. The harvesting of the crop is uncertain business, for picking cannot begin until the hops are ripe and they soon spoil. The pods must go to the oasts, or drying kilns, as soon as they are picked, and if the pickers are too energetic there is waste.

Mothers, Do This—

When the children cough, rub Musteroil on their throats and chests. No telling how soon the symptoms may develop into croup, or worse. And then when you're glad you have a jar of Musteroil at hand to give prompt relief. As fast aid, Musteroil is excellent. Keep a jar ready for instant use.

It is the remedy for adults, too. Relieves sore throat, bronchitis, tonsillitis, croup, stiff neck, asthma, neuralgia, headache, congestion, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, pains and aches of back or joints, sprains, sore muscles, chafes, frost-bite and colds of the chest (it may prevent pneumonia).

To Mothers: Musteroil is also made in milder form for babies and small children. Ask for Children's Musteroil.

There will be the following booths: Fancy, apron, handkerchief, candy, flower, ice cream and the orange tree. The public is most cordially invited to attend this fair. The orchestra will render selections each evening.

Old English "Harvest Home"

Bloomfield gives us a fine picture of Harvest Home in Suffolk, England, where the foremost man in the field was honored with the title of "lord," and at the Horkey or Harvest home feast he collected money from farmers and visitors to make a frolic afterwards, which was termed the "largess spending." Even in Bloomfield's time this quaint custom was on the wane.

LAST NIGHT on THE RADIO

Two days and nights of exceptionally good reception have cheered the fans. Last night there was some static but not enough to interfere with a properly operated and equipped set. Daylight reception was excellent both Saturday and Sunday and WDBZ was especially good.

Several new stations and new cases of wave jumping emerged. WMAL, Washington, D. C., an obscure station never heard when it was on 212 meters, spoke up clearly on 295 meters. KSO, Clarinda, Iowa, never heard on 240 meters, has jumped to 415 and is a pest to anyone who wants to hear WCCO, WBBL, Titon, N. H., licensed about a month ago to use 765 meters, where it would have been a nuisance, was using 412 meters Sunday night and was a nuisance just the same.

Saturday night was the best night for radio golfing in many a month. One confirmed golfer sends in the following list of 69 stations received, which he thinks entitles him to championship: WGY, WBBR, WOH, WBZ, WEAF, WJZ, CFCF, WHAS, WSR, WTIC, WLW, WEEI, WCA, WEBB, KDKA, WJAX, WODA, WTAM, WNAC, WIP, WCK, WCHS, WCAE, WFL, WMLA, WHN, WRG, WHAL, WGBS, CKCL, (all received before 7 p. m.), WPG, WSAI, WLS, WLT, WHT, CKAC, WJR, WRNY, WNYC, WTAG, KYW, WOO, WJAZ, WCCO, WQJ, WENR, WMAK, WHK, WWSW, WAU, WAAM, CKCX, WMAL, WREO, WOOD, WSKC, WBOC, WKRC, WJJD, WJBL, KMOX, WSM, KFNF, WFAB, WBBM, WOK, WDAF, KSO. He says that, even with the static, he could have had as many more Sunday night had he not felt the need of getting some sleep and retired early.

WDBZ will broadcast a play by play description of the National Professional Basketball league game between the Orange-Ridgewood team and the Kingston team direct from the Kingston Armory on Wednesday night at 8:15. As an added feature, Harry Maisenhelder's orchestra.

The program is broadcast through the courtesy of the Jacob Forst Packing Co. and Frank Morgenweck, manager of the Kingston team.

Announcer: P. Joseph Beichert, the Graham McNamee of Kingston.

The mystery of recent performances by WOK is solved by a statement from that station. It had been using 217 meters half time and is now using 235 meters when that wave length is not in use by WHT. This seems all right although it makes WOK rather hard to find, but it is not a case of wave jumping.

THE VLY.

The Vly. Nov. 8.—The Vly School will give two plays, entitled "Fudge and a Burglar" and "Pat's Matrimonial Adventure" on Tuesday, November 23, at 8 o'clock in The Vly hall. There will also be a special feature between the plays. Refreshments will be served after the entertainment by the Ladies' Aid. A good time is promised to all who attend.
